June 29 | Bartones | Rock & Soul

Bruce Gray and Nick Bonis of The Jailtones joined forces with Robin Miller, David Hunter and Michael Mosgrove of The Barflys to fill a distinct void in the local music scene – the excitement of 60s and early 70s rock and soul.

July 6 | Michael Clark Band | Rhythm & Blues

Tracy Clark's vocals and stage presence, coupled with one of the tightest rhythm sections in the area and one of the funkier horn sections on the East Coast, provides all the elements for a great musical experience.

July 13 | Major and The Monbacks | Rock n' Soul

Major and the Monbacks are the newest torch bearers of the old "Norfolk Sound." With four vocalists, a hypeman, and a lively horn section, the Monbacks have revived the party infused energy of Southern soul, blending old-school style with danceable pop melodies, ska and soulful horn riffs.

July 20 | Seth Stainback & Roosterfoot | Rockin' Roots Music

Seth is a native Texan replanted and grown in the Carolina Clay. Everything that moves is a rhythm, and every noise is a melody. The CD, Earth & Worm, was nominated as best local CD of the year at the VEER Music awards along with three other nominations for Stainback and the group.

July 27 | 12 South | Classic Rock & Blues

Award-winning singer/songwriter John Huber is joined by the area's finest veteran rockers Frank McPhillips (drums), Jamie Jones (guitar), and Matt Thornton (bass) to deliver a raw, powerful, high-energy performance covering classic to current rock, blues and Americana plus originals.

While you're here, stop by the restaurants and shops at The University Village where you'll find cool art to cold margaritas. An initiative of the Old Dominion University Real Estate Foundation. ■ 757-683-4504 ■ oduvillage.com
