

EVMS & ODU FACULTY ENGAGEMENT SERIES

Hosted by the EVMS Faculty Affairs and Professional Development Office

Resilient Teaming: Lessons from the Sociobiology Analogy

Presented by: Sayra Cristancho, PhD

Associate Professor, Department of Surgery,
Scientist, Centre for Education Research and Innovation,
Schulich School of Medicine and Dentistry, Western University, London, Ontario, Canada

MARCH 28, 2024
12:00p - 1:00p

EVMS Waitzer Hall, 300*
& Zoom

Dr. Sayra Cristancho is an Associate Professor in the Department of Surgery and a Scientist in the Centre for Education Research & Innovation (CERI) at the Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry at Western University, London, Ontario, Canada. She received her Ph.D. degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of British Columbia. Dr. Cristancho's research program investigates how action teams navigate and respond to disruptive events. Her research program aims to shed light on how best to support training and practice for resilient teaming in healthcare. To this end, she developed a unique research approach that cross-pollinates qualitative research, sociobiology and systems engineering principles with insights from various industries, including healthcare, tactical, emergency response, business, and music. She co-leads the DART (Disruptive Agility for Resilient Teaming) Think Tank.

ACCREDITATION

Eastern Virginia Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION

Eastern Virginia Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of 1.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

! If attending in person: RSVP by Tuesday, March 26

*RSVP Here:

or <https://forms.gle/wVbu3YHZrAwRMaap7>