

Old Dominion University's Office of Intercultural Relations (OIR) presents

First American Heritage Month Celebration

11:00AM-3:00PM

Performance: 12:30PM-1:30PM

November 1, 2012

North Mall, Webb Center

Performances, tribal information and vendor stations featuring

Chief Lynette Allston of the Nottoway Indian Tribe of Virginia; Jesse Bass, Council Member and Event Coordinator for the Nansemond Indian Tribal Association and drumkeeper for Full Circle Singers; and Melissa DeSantis of the Lakota Sioux, from Pine Ridge South Dakota

For more info please contact OIR at (757)683-4406, oir@odu.edu, or visit our website at odu.edu/oir.

Nottoway Indian Tribe of Virginia

Prior to 1607, several distinct groups of Iroquoian speaking native people, including the Nottoway Indians, lived in the Virginia-North Carolina coastal plain. In Virginia, there are three Native American linguistic groups - Algonquin, Siouan and Iroquoian. The Nottoway Indians are a Southern Iroquoian tribe and are citizen Indians with a rich past and a proud future.

Contact Information

Nottoway Indian Tribe of Virginia
Community House and Interpretive Center
23186 Main Street, PO Box 246
Capron, VA 23929
NottowayofVA@aol.com
www.nottowayindian.org

Student Engagement and Enrollment Services

