

James Burnett, ODU alumnus and 16-year veteran journalist, is currently a reporter for The Boston Globe. Burnett has previously worked at the Miami Herald, the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, and the Financial Times. Burnett has also been an on-air social media correspondent on a show for CBS Miami, while periodically working as an analyst for CNN and HLN.

Outside of journalism, James is the co-founder of a retail business and a communications consulting firm. His company Cards in Color is the first greeting cards manufacturer in North America to produce cards depicting multiracial people, couples, and families. And his company The Girder Group, conducts media literacy workshops at businesses and colleges.

Come enjoy a Q&A Session with James Burnett at the Strome Entrepreneurial Center during Activity Hour, Tuesday, November 4th!

Guest Speaker:
James Burnett

ODU Alumnus

Founder: Cards In Color

Reporter: Boston
Globe

Tuesday,
November 4th,
12:30pm – 1:20pm

STROME
ENTREPRENEURIAL CENTER

1006 Strome
Entrepreneurial Center

(Between Constant and Dragas Halls)

odu.edu/entrepreneur